Item of Note

Just a reminder that when busses don't run, the school remains open. It is up to parents to decide if they can get their children to and from school safely. Students who do not attend due to the lack of busses will not be penalized. So parents should not feel pressured to get their children to school. Those students who do attend will be engaged in meaningful learning activities. It is a great opportunity for students to get some individualized help and attention, get caught up, or get ahead.
