“All students will learn and grow academically, socially, emotionally and physically!”

Items of Note

With no parents feedback on last week's dress code article, the final step will be to introduce it to all students before officially putting it into effect in March. Discussions with students will continue until Christmas break.

As teachers prepare for report cards, users of the PowerSchool parent portal will experience a blackout period for the next two weeks. This will allow teachers the opportunity to fine tune comments and standards of achievement before sending them home on November 28.
