Items of Note

It's been nearly a month since the last Panther Post. This is partly due to the move to online learning situation, but more so because of my own illness. I wouldn't wish COVID on anyone. It was not a pleasant experience. But I'm back to work and, among other things, back to creating weekly newsletters. With pandemic restrictions curtailing most of our extra curricular activities, there's not a great deal to report.

We will be happy to welcome the students back to in-person learning tomorrow. We realize that online learning is not ideal for many of our students and we look forward to wrapping up the year face-to-face. With only 5 weeks of classes left, it will go by quickly.

With our return to in-person classes, now is a good time to remind families of the COVID Daily Checklist that should be used each morning to determine if your child should be attending school. It can be found at <https://bit.ly/3v14EMt>. Additionally, students will continue to wear masks, sanitize their hands, and maintain social distancing. Whether you agree with these provincially mandated protocols or not, we ask that you and your child follow them.
