STAFF PROFILE

Kara Egeto
Teacher

Kara grew up in Edmonton, Alberta, with a love for the outdoors and a sense of adventure. While studying at the University of Alberta, she met her future husband, who was also training to become a teacher. They quickly bonded over their shared passions—riding motorcycles down winding roads, camping under the stars, exploring hiking trails, and a mutual interest in education.

After earning her bachelor’s degree in education, Kara moved to Rocky Mountain House, eager to begin her teaching journey away from the city and closer to the mountains. In 2007, she married her university sweetheart and welcomed a son in 2009, followed by a daughter in 2011. Temporarily pausing her teaching career, Kara embraced her time as a stay-at-home mom, cherishing every moment with her children until they were both in school. When the time was right, she returned to the classroom.

In the warmer months, Kara is often found outdoors—golfing, hiking, camping, or gardening. During the colder months, she can usually be found at the arena, cheering on her kids’ hockey teams, or curled up by the fire with a good book and one or more of her five feline fur babies.
